Lent Reflection Sessions and Group Discussions:

Saint Kateri Tekakwitha Parish is offering an opportunity to enter into the Lenten Season by offering 7 sessions of prayer, reflection and discussion using the book, "Show Me The Way: Daily Lenten Readings" by Henri J.M. Nouwen. Henri Nouwen, was a Dutch Catholic priest, theologian, professor and author best known for his deeply personal writings on spirituality and community.

The first session will take place on Thursday, February 12th (introduction session and book distribution) at 7pm at Holy Family Church. Other sessions to follow on February 19th & 26th, March 5th, 12th, 19th and 26th. If you are interested in participating in these sessions and to ensure we have adequate number of books, please see the sign-up sheet in the lobby of the Church.

This Lent, enrich your spiritual journey by creating space to listen to God's calling amidst the busyness of life's demands. In the words of Henri Nouwen, a master of prayer, "Praying means above all listening to the voice of Jesus, who dwells in the depths of the heart."

We hope to see you on February 12th. If you have any questions, please speak to Judy Kelly who will be the facilitator for these sessions (506-478-7274).

Steubenville Atlantic Youth Conference & LEAD Registration is now open. This is a call to all high schoolers to come and explore how Jesus meets our deepest longing for meaning, joy, and love. Join hundreds of Catholic teens at Steubenville Atlantic in Halifax, July 10–12, 2026, and encounter the transforming love of Christ. Youth in grade 9 through grade 12 are welcome to attend.

We interviewed some youth and a chaperone from last year's event and this is what they had to say about their experience. Thank you to members of the Ezeokafor family for sharing their experiences from the 2025 conference.

Youth:

Q: Would you attend another Steubenville rally in the future and what advice would you give to someone who's never been to an event like this?

A: Yes, I would, and my advice to a newcomer would be: sleep early because you need to rest for the action-filled weekend!

Q: If you could describe the event in one word, what would it be and why?

A: Radical, because it truly calls you to make a genuine change in your life.

Q: What was the most impactful part of the rally for you?

A: I really loved all the singing and the way we started every session in the auditorium with concert-like singing.

Q: How has your faith been strengthened or changed since the rally?

A: I feel I understand Jesus a bit more than before this rally.

Chaperone

Q: How would you describe your overall experience as a chaperone at the rally?

A: It was a humbling experience being a chaperone, I expected to be a literal chaperone, but I discovered my role was not just to accompany and supervise, but to also be a 'small group leader' and have sessions with the teens assigned to me, to break down what was learned and help them understand and see how to apply it in their lives. That took me outside of my comfort zone, but God's grace abounded.

Q: What was your favorite part of the experience?

A: It would be hard to pick one thing; everything was so spiritually enriching: Praise and Worship, Mass, Adoration, the talks, Confessions, Prayer Labs... If I absolutely had to pick one thing though, it would be a tie between Eucharistic Adoration and Mass.

Our Sacred Stories

Blessing: In What Does God Take Delight?

(Fr. John Jennings)

Many years ago, traveling in Ireland, I was surprised by an encounter I had in a pub. More than good ale and stout, I discovered a surprising awareness of blessing. Sitting in a pub for lunch, we noticed a group of truckers at the bar who were finishing off their Guinness. As each one finished and began to leave, the others called out to him, “God bless you now, safe drive.” What do we do when we bless someone? Essentially, we are imitating God, seeing another person as God sees them.

If we take a look at the first chapter of the Book of Genesis, we find that the author reflected that at the end of creation God viewed it all. The writer says: God saw all that was made, and indeed it was very good (Gen.1:31). There is probably no clearer statement of the goodness of creation, our world and each and every creature on the earth – including ourselves. Genesis is a reminder that God takes delight in all these works that form creation. God does indeed see you and I and every created thing as a blessing. It is no small thing, that we recognize we are blessed and that we can bless one another.

St. Paul as he opened his letter to the little community of Christians in Corinth (1 Cor.1:26-31), noted that they were quite ordinary. They were not powerful or great, they were not noble or especially wise. But they were especially chosen by God. Their lives personally and as a community was firmly founded on Jesus the Christ. They were truly blessed.

The spiritual writer, Ron Rolheiser has a wonderful treatment of what we mean by a blessing in his book Against an Infinite Horizon: The Finger of God in Our Everyday Lives. In chapter 2 he focuses our attention on the significance of seeing that we are blessed and that we pass that blessing on to others. Recognizing that we are all blessed and can pass this on to others is a form of delight that God expressed in all creation. If God can look at the created universe and in the words of Genesis declare all to be “very good”, we can do nothing less.

When we bless someone, we are indicating that like God, we take delight in that person, that this person is special to us and to God. Like God, we want the best for them. It is this that calls parents to bless their children, friends to bless their friends, members of a community to bless one another, and yes, truckers to bless their fellow truckers in an Irish pub.

In Matthew 5:1-12 we hear the beginning of the Sermon on the Mount. We hear Jesus acknowledging the manner in which God views us all. This opening section of the Sermon is referred to as the Beatitudes. These are blessings conferred on us, all of us, in the many experiences that mark our lives. We need to know that in the midst of each and every experience of our lives, God constantly sees the goodness that rests in us and in all creation. God takes delight in us.

Jesus will go on in the Sermon to call us to let this goodness, this “salt” and “light”, shine before our world. But it is important that we first recognize that God blesses us with this goodness – even when we do not feel that goodness.

As we conclude each Eucharistic gathering, we leave the table with a blessing for each person who has been with us. We recognize and express the delight in which the God, the Father, Son and Holy Spirit holds each and every one of us. Leaving the table at home, especially when we have shared a meal with visitors, we do the same. In saying Goodbye, we bless them with “God be with you”.
